Baptist To Hold Meeting.
At the Baptist church Sunday morning, the congregation voted in favor of holding a protracted meeting. The time has not been decided upon, but the meeting will be held in the near future.

Judging from the amount of sheet music and number of pianos and graphophones West & Herndon are selling, a musical wave has struck Garrard county. A house without a musical instrument of some kind, is a lonesome one, indeed.

Entertainment at Paint Lick Church.
The ladies of the Paint Lick Presbyterian church will give a chrysanthemum and candy sale at the residence of Mr. E. H. Walker on the afternoon of November 13th. Everybody is most cordially invited to attend.

Will Probably Carry.
As the official count has not been had, it is impossible to tell whether the necessary two-thirds vote was given the bond issue, but we understand there is every reason to believe the people have shown their enterprise and progressiveness by voting to make a decent and habitable court house.

George Mason Ill.
Mr. George T. Mason, who was recently forced to undergo an operation at a Louisville hospital, has been removed to the home of a relative, at Hanley, Jessamine county, where he is rapidly recovering. Mr. Mason, who is an old Lancaster boy, is now engaged in the insurance business in Chicago.

Wanted, Corn to Shuck.
What farmers will give the girls of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the Christian Church, all the corn they can shuck in one afternoon? All work to be done by the girls, shucking, loading and hauling. Let the girls shuck your corn. No old mules on the field. All young, pretty girls at the corn husking. Ring up The Record office and leave your order for the C. E. corn husking.

Apron Bazaar and Exchange.
The ladies of the Methodist church will have an apron bazaar and exchange in the Post Office, Saturday, December 15th. Aprons representing all the States, also every size and color will be on hand for sale at very low prices. They will also have everything for the table, fresh and well prepared. Your patronage will be greatly appreciated.

The Town Votes.
In the vote for Mayor, Hon. R. H. Tomlinson received nearly all the votes cast. Some voters, however, wrote the names of W. A. Beazley and J. H. Kinnaird on their ballots. As stated in last issue, there is a question as to this being the proper time to hold election for Mayor, the City Council contending that it is not, while the friends of Mr. Tomlinson say it is.

To Meet in Lancaster.
At meeting of the Eighth District Publishers' League, held in Nicholasville Saturday, it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting in Lancaster. The meeting will be held some time in January. The League is composed of the newspapers in this congressional district, about twenty in number. The object of the meeting is solely for business, there being no social features connected therewith.

Killing At Crab Orchard.
Milton Estes, son of Mr. John Estes, was shot and killed at Crab Orchard, Tuesday, by Jim Kennedy. The men had trouble previous to the fatal difficulty, and each fired a number of shots. Kennedy escaping injury while two bullets struck Estes. The dead man leaves a widow and several children. Reports are conflicting as to who began the trouble. Kennedy was placed in jail at Stanford, and the grand jury now in session there will take up the case at once. The funeral services and burial took place at the Lancaster cemetery yesterday morning.

Why Is It?
Why is it that the law requires a man to walk in front of a traction engine and assist people with horses becoming frightened at the machine, and at the same time an automobile is allowed to dash along the public highways at a mile-a-minute clip, not so much as giving half the road to those driving horses? The drivers of automobiles seem to take the greatest delight in scaring horses, and, as there is no law regulating their speed, or any other restrictions placed around them, they can go ahead endangering the lives of women and children. In most every other state there are laws giving some protection to the people, but here in Kentucky there is none. Kentucky will be by this time she is in everything else—one hundred years behind the times, and the citizens will have to defend themselves from being killed by the sap-headed dudes who run the machines.

Splendid Telephone Service.

The quickest and best election service ever given in Lancaster was furnished by the Eastin Telephone Co., this week. No fake reports were given by them, but as soon as anything reliable could be had, their patrons got the benefit of it. Lancaster and Garrard county have, unquestionably, the best telephone service in Kentucky.

Harvey Helm Wins.

Hon. Harvey Helm, the "Tall Sycamore of the St. Asaph," is receiving many congratulations over his victory in being elected to Congress from this, the Eighth District. There was never a more clever, or a bigger hearted gentleman than Harvey Helm, and the people will never regret electing him to the high position for which he is so thoroughly equipped.

Pupils Well Pleased.

The ladies composing Mrs. Nannie Talbott Johnston's class in cooking are highly delighted with the course of instruction, and many are the compliments passed upon her ability. They have learned to cook and prepare every substantial and dainty dish, as well as the more important feature of economy in the kitchen. Those who failed to take advantage of the opportunity will regret it, very much. Only a few more lessons will be given. Single lessons cost fifty cents.

Operator Hamilton Ill.

Mr. H. Clay Hamilton, the obliging telegraph operator at the Western Union office, has been suffering for some time from nervous prostration, and been forced to enter a private sanitarium near Louisville, where he will remain for about two weeks. During his absence, the telegraph office has been removed to the depot, where Mr. Patterson will attend to all messages. Mr. Hamilton's many friends regret his illness and hope he will soon be fully restored to health.

Gov. Beckham Wins.

The state Democratic primary was one of the hardest fought contests ever held in Kentucky, every inch of ground being covered by the candidates. Senator McCreary is defeated for re-nomination by Gov. J. C. W. Beckham by about five thousand votes. Hager defeats Hays for nomination for governor and J. K. Hendrick wins over Lillard Carter for attorney general. E. A. Gullion wins over Winfrey as superintendent of public instruction. The Republicans gain one congressman, giving them three in Kentucky. The Republicans and Democrats about broke even in other states, the next Congress remaining on the Republican side by a large majority. Hearst was snowed under in New York by Hughes, the Republican.

Election In Garrard.

The election in Garrard was the most quiet ever known, there being absolutely no disorder or excitement anywhere in the county. There were two voting places in each precinct, one for the congressional and one for the Democratic primary. In the congressional race, Bethurum, Republican, carries county by only twenty-nine, which shows the hard work done by the friends of Harvey Helm, and also proves what a strong following he has here, as the county generally gives a Republican majority of from 250 to 300 in congressional races. In the primary, Senator McCreary carries Garrard by 355 over Gov. Beckham for nomination for United States Senator. Other victors were Hager by 78; Carter by 64; Winfrey by 76; Newman by 115. Of course the official returns may make some change in these. While the friends of each candidate worked hard, it was all done goodnaturedly. We understand several nice wads were won and lost on the outcome.

A Wide-Awake City.

It was the pleasure of the editor of The Record to visit the pretty city of Nicholasville Saturday, shake hands with many old friends and meet many more of her enterprising, sociable people. Nicholasville has grown with remarkable rapidity in the past few years, her pluck and enterprise being remarkable. Notwithstanding the fact that Lexington is only a few miles distant, with splendid railroad facilities and cheap fare, yet her people, as a rule, patronize the home business men and "pull" for their town with a spirit that is commendable, indeed. Many pretty homes and handsome business houses have been erected, also other enterprises which go to show that the people invest their money where it will help home and where they can have a chance to make it back. The fire department, recently re-organized, with clever Dan Hemphill at the head, is provided with every modern equipment and apparatus for fighting fire. The run given for the newspaper men showed perfect skill on the part of every man and the perfect training of the team of handsome horses which pull the hose wagon. A handsome, modern hotel stands as a monument for the enterprise and town pride of the people, and proves that the citizens believe in building up their home town instead of "investing" in every wild cat scheme that comes along. In other words, they spend their money with the people from whom they earn it—the one principal requisite to have a good town. The people gave the newspaper men a most cordial welcome, which was highly appreciated and enjoyed.

The examining trials of several employees at the state asylum, in Lexington, brought to light a most disgraceful state of affairs in regard to brutal treatment of patients. Several attendants have been on trial for murder, and the need of a first-class hanging is plain. The greatest care should be exercised in selecting the attendants to look after the unfortunate inmates of these institutions, but this will never be done until they are placed under control of a non-partisan board.

Everyone is thankful that political talk will cease for a time. We are especially delighted that the newspaper boys will now refill their editorial columns with good, honest talk and lay aside their tomahawks and scalping knives. Kentucky has the best lot of editors in the land, but they lose their heads and do some very disgusting talk when a campaign is on. Now get busy, brethren, and air your views on far more interesting matters.

The editor of the Louisville Times says that Atlanta millionaire, who has made his money out of a hair restorer, and married an Atlanta heiress to a million made by her father from the manufacture of a toothbrush, is not so much pumpkins after all, as their children will be born hairless and toothless, just like every brat comes into the world.

The Louisville Herald talks out in meekness when it says the spot lights has been turned so much on the sordid and selfish and vulgar and sudden that we lose sight of good people. Don't think for a moment, Mr or Mrs or Miss Reader, that there is any scarcity of brains or uprightness and unselfishness in this old world.

A gang of hoodlums from the State College brutally assaulted and wounded several policemen in Lexington the other night. No collection of fools can be more annoying and frequently more destructive than a gang of sap-headed school boys, and if some are put astride a rock pile it will have a good effect.

Several women were injured and many had their clothing torn in a bargain counter rush in Louisville the other day. The chances are that every article for sale could have been bought at other stores for a few cents more than the "bargain" price, but the women, bless their souls, go daffy over special sales.

"Thomas A Edison's new invention is expected to put the automobile in reach of the poor," says a news item. What the suffering public wants is an inventor to put the poor people out of reach of the automobile.

An organization of Eastern society women declares that the amount of material used in evening gowns must be cut down. If this is done, a quarter of a yard of goods will be an abundance to buy.

Whalebone is to go up to $15,000 a ton. If the right fellow hugs hard enough to break the whalebone stays, no girl will object to paying the advance in prices for new ones.

Nicholasville Journal:—The patron saint of all fair maidens must have made special provision for the ideal weather conditions of "All Hallow E'en," which time had been chosen for the marriage of one of Jessamine's loveliest daughters, Miss Mary Welsh, to Mr Homer Ward Batson. "The Wayside," the country home of the Welch family, was transformed into a bower of beauty with elaborate decoration in palmettos, from Florida, autumn leaves and a profusion of American Beauty roses, which gave the color scheme. The marriage ceremony was performed at six o'clock by Rev. J M Fuqua, pastor of Centenary Methodist church, South, Nicholasville. In the presence of about forty relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties, in an informal manner, the bride being attended by her niece, Miss Mattie Welsh Logan, who carried a huge bouquet of American Beauty roses. The bride was gown in a most exquisite Paris robe of Duchesse lace, over white chiffon and satin made in Princess style, a veil and orange blossoms, while she carried in her arms a beautiful bride's bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley, the whole making a most fitting setting to one of the prettiest girls in our county, whose lovely qualities of mind and heart enhance the outer beauty. The "happy man," Mr Homer Ward Batson, is a prosperous young lawyer, of Louisville a former partner of Ex Governor Wm. Bradley, and in that city they will make their home. A sumptuous dinner was served to these guests immediately following congratulations; the dining room being decorated in ropes of smilax and white. By eight o'clock the guests began to arrive for the reception, and until ten o'clock congratulations of friends were showered upon these popular young people. In the receiving line were Mrs Ida Scott, sister of the bride, Misses Mary Anne Wilmore, Ora Wilmore, Lena Phillips and Messrs. Grady Cary and Cary Cabb, of Louisville. The general direction of the wedding journey was south and the end supposed to be Asheville, N. C. for which point the bridal couple departed by the late train, escaping adroitly the waiting guests. The gifts were exquisite and in the greatest profusion, cut glass of every shape and size, brasses, gilt clock and candelabras, silver serving tray, a chest of table silverware, hand painted china, pictures, laces, linens and a hundred dollars in gold pieces, and many other lovely mementoes. The Journal adds its blessings and good wishes for the future. Saxton & Frost's string band, of Lexington, furnished delightful music.

Seeing the Southwest EXCURSIONS.

Doubtless you have heard of the Bumper Crops which have been raised this year in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, and New Mexico. Have you compared them with results obtained in your section? Is your work where you are, bringing you adequate returns for the capital invested and the labor expended? If not, a change would be beneficial perhaps. A visit to the Southwest will open your eyes. Out in Oklahoma the last big land opening is soon to take place; farms are still very cheap in Western Arkansas, Northern Louisiana and the Gulf Coast or Texas. Let us give you full information about these sections. You will want to see them after you have examined our illustrated literature.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of E. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood; which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured. Guaranteed for Sore Lungs, Coughs and colds, at McRobert's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free."

greater value to the farmer than chickens and eggs.

Farmers raising hemp will fall short on their profits this year. The bad weather and scarcity of hands is the cause of much hemp still standing in the field, and extravagant prices are now offered to get the work done. Many men raising crops on the shares will lose money, while the best to be expected is an even break. Near a third of the hemp standing is dead and this will cause the fiber to be light. The price paid for the crop is the largest for several years, buyers engaging crops at planting season at $6. Some sales are now made as high as $6.25 - Winchester Democrat.

Teachers Convention.

The Eighth Congressional District Teachers' Association convened in the Baptist Church in Lancaster on Friday, October the twenty sixth. The opening exercises were conducted by Rev. Williams, after which a secretary was elected, Miss Bogie being absent.

Supt. Rawlings, not being able to attend the Association, his subject, "How Strengthen the Work of the Country Schools in Course of Study," was assigned to Bro. W. C. Grinstead, whose response was to the effect that regular course and rules could not be laid down. Prof. Mannix dissented from this opinion, declaring that a definite plan and purpose must be had and that, whether entirely satisfactory or not, an adopted course of study was necessary for the sake of unity. Prof. Peratt, in a short talk, advocated a unified system of study. Miss Mittle Dunn suggested some most excellent ideas in regard to the daily program, after which there was a general discussion of the subject. The afternoon session was adjourned out of respect and sympathy for the bereaved families of the community.

At the evening session, Dr. H. K. Taylor, of Winchester, discussed the question, "Who Makes Our Laws." The manner in which he handled the question brought home to the parents and teachers a sense of their great responsibility in the training of the future lawmakers of our nation.

Following his address, was a solo by Miss Eliza M. Ison, after which Judge J. A. Sullivan, of Richmond, addressed the audience. His subject, Kentucky's Educational Opportunity, is one of vital importance to all Kentuckians, and Judge Sullivan's forceful and eloquent address deeply impressed his hearers. His support of the State Normal Schools, upon which is based Kentucky's hope for progress, was heartily endorsed by Dr. Taylor.

After a solo by Mrs. Davidson, Prof. R. S. Eubank's ably discussed "The Future School System of Kentucky."

On Saturday morning the children of the school sang, "My Old Kentucky Home," "Away Down South in Dixie" and "The Red, White and Blue."

Rev. Williams conducted the devotion at exercises. Prof. J. C. Lewis, of London, addressed the Association on the subject, "Children - Kentucky's Most Valuable Asset," suitably concluding a most admirable program.

The resolutions offered were adopted as read.

Not having an invitation to meet anywhere the Association invited itself to Burgin.

The visiting members of the Association were royally entertained by the citizens of Lancaster, who manifested great interest in the cause.

The Association was, from all viewpoints a grand success, add Prof. Mannix, as President, is to be congratulated on the result of his labors for the cause.

Following are the Resolutions:

We, the teachers of the ECD T A of Ky:

Resolved, 1st. That we extend our sincere thanks to the people of the Baptist Church for the use of their house while in session.

2nd. That we thank the people of the town for their courtesy in entertaining the teachers.

3rd. That we thank the ladies who furnished the music for their interest in the Association.

4th. That we heartily endorse the unified system of public schools as outlined in the address of Prof. Eubank.

5th. That we express our appreciation of the interest manifested by Prof. Eubank, Judge J. A. Sullivan, President Taylor and Prof. Lewis, in this Association, by the addresses delivered.

6th. Thank the President of the Association, Prof. Mannix, for the pains he took in getting up a strong program, and for his admirable management of the Association.

THE LIVER QUARANTINE

Hurried eating has ruined many a man's stomach. The digestion-destriving process is gradual, often unnoticed at first. But it is only a short time until the liver balks, the digestive organs give way, and almost countless ills assail the man who endeavors to economize time at the expense of his health.
A torpid liver causes a quarantine of the entire system. It locks in the diseased germs and body poisons and affords them full play, inviting some serious illness.
In families where August Flower is used, a sluggish liver and constipation are unknown, so are all stomach ailments, as well as indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, headaches and kidney and bladder affections. No well-regulated family should be without this standard remedy.

CULTIVATING THE POTATO.

The Merits of Level as Against Hill Cultivation—Better for Dry Weather.

There are two distinct ways of cultivating the potato—level and hill cultivation. The latter is the older method and many farmers still follow this plan, irrespective of the possible value of level cultivation. I believe that a good deal depends upon the year and the kind of potatoes planted. I have found, however, says a Will county (Ill.) correspondent of the Prairie Farmer, that I get just as satisfactory results from level cultivation as I used to get from hilling, besides I have the advantage of keeping my ground in better condition.

During a dry year I have found serious objection to hilling the crop, for the reason that the greater surface exposed by hilling aids evaporation. In the accompanying sketch, which I have taken from a recent bulletin from the Maryland experiment station, is shown a typical potato vine. Suppose that the soil about this vine is hilled. The result is that the potatoes and roots are nearer to the surface than if the land is level on three sides. I think that the point I wish to make is so clear that further discussion is unnecessary.

I must admit, however, that hilling the potato field with a shovel plow the last time through may have some advantages, particularly during a wet season—the surface potatoes are better covered, perhaps, and the soil will dry out quicker. Concerning the former advantage I think that the farmer should endeavor to select the potato that grows down and thus avoid sunburn.

I would like to have some readers discuss their experience in The Prairie Farmer telling why they hill their potatoes. I think it will be found that when everything is sifted down that some will become convinced that a good many are doing some useless work and shifting their potatoes in a worse condition to resist dry weather than would be the case with level cultivation.

HAMMER MADE OF PIPE.

Very Handy Tool Which Can Be Made of Old Pieces of Iron Piping.

A very handy hammer can be made for little or nothing, provided one has some old materials on hand, says H. C. Stebbins, Jr., St. Louis, in a late issue of Popular Mechanics. Into a one-half inch tee (B) screw a piece of one-half inch pipe (A) about eight inches long with threads on one end and two pieces of one-half inch pipe (CC) 2 1/2 inches long with threads on both ends. On the ends (DD) put one-half inch caps.

A larger hammer may be made by using pipe of larger dimensions, and the hammer can be made heavier by stopping up the tee and filling the head with lead.

Such a hammer as this has its limitations, but for heavy-duty work, less than that would be required for a heavy iron maul, such a hammer might be used to advantage.

IN DRY SEASONS.

Thorough Cultivation Will Hold Moisture in Soil and Keep Crops Growing.

When rainfall is short in the spring more careful cultivation is necessary, in order that the crops may grow steadily without a setback. Cultivation retains moisture and the harrow or shallow cultivator should be kept going constantly. Don't work wet soil, but after a light shower, stir the ground as quickly as possible to prevent the moisture getting away. The dust mulch is a great benefactor to the farmer in dry districts. By using it carefully, enough moisture is retained in the practically rainless districts of Colorado to grow good crops. The secret of the Campbell system of soil culture, explains Farm and Home, is to retain that moisture which is received by the soil and allow very little to escape by evaporation. This is entirely possible and the great results attending this work are sufficient proof of its success.

By Contrast.

Mrs. Flighly always knew what she meant, but her listeners were sometimes left in doubt.
"Hot where we were last summer?" she echoed an inquiry made by a friend who had begun her annual search for a boarding place. "Hot! Why, I used to spend my afternoons under a big oak tree, the loveliest, cool, shady spot you ever saw in your life, and the thermometer there was almost always above 90!"—Youth's Companion.

Made Happy for Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, W. Va., which his little daughter was restored from the dread ful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervousness, plagues, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by McRoberts drug store. Price 50c.

PAINT LIQUOR.

One of the prettiest parties of the season was given Wednesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Woods Walker entertained with a Halloween party to a few of their friends. The house was charmingly decorated with autumn leaves, pumpkins and chrysanthemums. The color scheme, yellow, was beautifully carried out, the house being illuminated with jack-o'-lanterns and candles, which made a most pleasing picture for her guests. The delightful fruits and nuts were served bountifully by Miss Mary Walker, the attractive daughter of the host and hostess. Those who had the pleasure of accepting the invitation were, Mrs. Ed Walker, Mrs. Givens Terrill, T. R. Slavin, Misses Estelle, Margaret, Mary Mattie and Isabella Walker, Katie Lee Denny, Alma Lear and Rice Woods Terrill. The most pleasing features of the evening were music and fortune telling which was most delightful, until the wee hours of the night.

The Midway Clipper says: Many of the leading farmers of this county have expressed their determination not to raise any more tobacco. They have been forced to this by reason of the inefficient help and the tenant system which they regard as very bad. They have found large crops a constant source of worry to them. Labor has been hard to get and has demanded such enormous prices that tobacco raising has been well nigh unprofitable in the last two years. Many farmers at Versailles Monday said they had raised the last stalk of tobacco they ever intended to. They appeared to be thoroughly disgusted with the whole business and regretted they had not quit years ago. We believe that the example of these farmers will soon be followed by other tobacco raisers and that the crop will be but a small proportion of what it has been in the past few years.

Town Killers.

The several classes of town-killers are being roasted in the newspapers. Town-killers are described as people pulling down what others do, or obstructing what their enterprising neighbors endeavor to accomplish for the general welfare. An exchange classes these town-killers as follows: 1. The man or woman who can't find anything worth buying at home, therefore does his trading through catalog, or visits the cities—generally on a railroad pass.

2. The economist, who dreads the cost of sidewalks, clean streets, sewers and even good water and lights. 3. The chap who owns the town, generally opposed to every movement he did not himself originate. 4. The self-seeker. He wants to see every movement fail that does not promise him direct benefit. He is generally found in collusion with the meanest town-killer of all, he who has lost his own moral reputation and seeks to destroy the credit or reputation of his neighbors.
